Section 2205. A. Nothing in the Financial Privacy Act shall prohibit the disclosure or release of any financial record or information to any supervisory agency in the exercise of its supervisory or regulatory functions with respect to a financial institution.

B. Nothing in the Financial Privacy Act prohibits a financial institution from disclosing or releasing any financial record or information to another financial institution for the usual and regular business purposes of the latter or from providing copies of any financial record to any court or government authority as an incident to perfecting a security interest, proving a claim in bankruptcy, or otherwise collecting on a debt either owed the financial institution itself or owed the financial institution in its role as a fiduciary.

C. Nothing in the Financial Privacy Act prohibits a financial institution from notifying a government authority that such institution or an officer, employee, or agent of such institution has information that may be relevant to a possible violation of any statute or regulation.

D. Sections 2201 through 2204 of this title shall not apply to any court order or subpoena issued in connection with proceedings before a multicounty grand jury, except that a court shall have authority to order a financial institution, on which a multicounty grand jury subpoena for customer records has been served, not to notify the customer of the existence of the subpoena or information that has been furnished to the multicounty grand jury. The court may order that the customer not be notified only if it finds:

1. That the requested records are relevant to an ongoing criminal investigation being conducted by the multicounty grand jury; and

2. That disclosure of the existence or issuance of, or compliance with the subpoena may frustrate or impede the investigation.

E. Nothing in the Financial Privacy Act shall prohibit the disclosure or release of any financial record or information as required by Section 2 of this act.

SECTION 2. NEW LAW A new section of law to be codified in the Oklahoma Statutes as Section 3401 of Title 6, unless there is created a duplication in numbering, reads as follows:

8. "Trusted contact" means any adult person designated by a customer of an institution that the institution may contact in the event of an emergency or loss of contact with the customer, or in the event of suspected third-party fraud or financial exploitation targeting the customer.

B. If an employee of an institution reasonably believes that financial exploitation of a protected adult in this state has occurred, is occurring, has been attempted, is being attempted, or will be attempted, the employee shall notify the institution of the suspected financial exploitation. If the institution reasonably believes that financial exploitation has occurred or is occurring, the institution shall promptly notify one or more of the proper agencies pursuant to the provisions of the Protective Services for Vulnerable Adults Act.

C. D. 1. An institution transacting business in or from this state with a protected adult may place a temporary hold on a transaction with or a disbursement of funds from an account of such protected adult or an account on which such protected adult is a beneficiary if:

2. An agency or a court of competent jurisdiction may terminate or extend a temporary hold authorized by this subsection. Any temporary hold of a transaction or disbursement of funds as authorized by this subsection shall expire upon the earlier of:

a. a determination by the institution that the transaction or disbursement of funds shall not result in financial exploitation of the protected adult, or

b. not later than ten (10) business days after the date on which the institution first placed the temporary hold on the transaction or disbursement of funds, unless the institution's internal review of the facts and circumstances supports the institution's reasonable belief that financial exploitation of the protected adult has occurred, is occurring, has been attempted, or will be attempted, or the institution receives a request for an extension by one or more of the agencies, in which case the institution may extend the temporary hold to not later than twenty (20) business days after the date the institution first placed the temporary hold on the transaction or disbursement of the funds.

3. Nothing in this subsection shall require an institution to place a temporary hold on any transaction with or disbursement of funds from an account of a protected adult or an account on which such protected adult is a beneficiary.

E. Notwithstanding the provisions of subsections C and D of this section, a notification permitted or required by this section shall not be made to any person the institution reasonably believes has engaged, is engaging, or will engage in suspected or attempted financial exploitation of the protected adult.

F. 1. An institution, or any employee of an institution, who makes a notification or report under subsection B of this section, makes a notification or report to a third party under subsection C of this section, provides records to any agency pursuant to subsection G of this section, or testifies or otherwise participates in a judicial proceeding arising from such notification, report, or provision of records, shall be immune from any civil or criminal liability arising from the notification, report, provision of records, testimony, or participation in the judicial proceeding, unless the employee or institution acted in bad faith or with a malicious purpose.

2. An institution that places, releases, or does not place a hold on any transaction pursuant to subsection D of this section shall be immune from any civil or criminal liability, as well as any disciplinary action from the Banking Department, from that action or failure to act, unless the institution acted in bad faith or with a malicious purpose.

G. An institution shall retain and, to the extent permitted by state and federal law, may provide access to or copies of records that are relevant to the suspected or attempted financial exploitation of a protected adult to any agency upon the written certification of the agency that an investigation into the financial exploitation of a protected adult is being undertaken by the agency. Upon such certification, the agency may request an institution to furnish, and an institution may, but shall not be required to, furnish, a statement setting forth the following information with respect to a customer account specified by the requesting party for a period of ninety (90) days before and up to sixty (60) days following the date of occurrence of the alleged illegal act involving the account:
